

ABSOLUTE SELECT VALUE ETF

MONTHLY FACT SHEET - ABEQ

MARCH 2026

ABSOLUTE FUNDS

PHILOSOPHY: The Fund employs an absolute return mindset to long-only value investing, emphasizing proven business models priced at a substantial discount to our conservative estimate of fair value. Importantly, we believe entry price is a key determinant of return.

Investment Objective: The Fund seeks positive absolute returns

DIFFERENTIATORS:

:: Absolute Return Mindset

As patient investors, out of favor stocks often offer great bargains. In contrast, many relative return investors buy popular stocks, which are typically expensive and invite unforeseen risks.

:: Concentrated Portfolio

A concentrated number of meaningful positions distinguish the portfolio from indexes, as we invest only in our best ideas.

:: Willingness to Hold Cash

Downside risks may be limited by refusing to overpay for stocks, while the "optionality" of cash permits for entry price discipline

:: Independent Research

We seek to avoid the herd mentality and focus on the long-term value of portfolio holdings without Wall Street conflicts of interest.

The performance data quoted represents past performance. Past performance does not guarantee future results. The investment return and principal value of an investment will fluctuate so that an investor's shares, when sold or redeemed, may be worth more or less than their original cost and current performance may be lower or higher than the performance quoted. Brokerage commissions will reduce returns. To obtain performance information current to the most recent month-end, call the fund at 1-833-267-3383

Beginning November 2, 2020, market price returns are calculated using the closing price and account for distributions from the funds. Prior to November 2, 2020, market price returns were calculated using the midpoint price and accounted for distributions from the fund. The midpoint is the average of the bid-ask prices at 4:00 PM ET.

The S&P 500 Index is an unmanaged index generally representing the performance of the broad domestic economy through changes in the aggregate market value of 500 stocks representing all major industries.

We contend that the price we pay for an investment ultimately determines the return. Further, trying to keep pace with the market in all environments may promote poor decisions.

St. James is an absolute return-oriented, “best ideas” equity manager whose philosophy focuses on valuation, independent fundamental research, and the view that risk is defined as a permanent loss of capital. PORTFOLIO MANAGEMENT:

Robert J. Mark

Robert is the cofounder and Managing Member of St. James and serves as portfolio manager for the firm’s Core Equity strategy. Robert formerly worked in the Private Client Group at Goldman Sachs in Houston after graduating from the University of Texas at Austin where he received his MBA in Finance. Robert graduated in 1989 from the United States Military Academy at West Point with a BS in Engineering.

FROM THE MANAGER:

“Extended periods of prosperity create financial fragility—everything is fine until it is not. One can never anticipate the next ‘Big Blowup’ nor should one try to do so. One should simply manage their investments in a prudent manner that incorporates a range of outcomes, including the consequences of investing in an environment that has suppressed true price discovery for multiple years. Navigating such an environment simply means that ‘We don’t have to be smarter than the rest. We have to be more disciplined than the rest.’

We remain adamant that a disciplined value investment strategy provides the most effective means to manage risk in the current environment and prosper over time.”
